

How does this image make you feel?

What is happening in this picture?
What are the facts?

What could some people find positive and helpful?

What could some people find negative here?

Why do you think this image is taking place?

Can you come to any conclusions about this image? What action needs to be taken?